Neil Bridge

Denver is home to legendary Jazz piano player, composer, arranger, and band leader, Neil Bridge. Neil, a New England Conservatory Graduate, taught music in Denver Public Schools for 28 years. In 1978, he formed the first citywide high school jazz combo. This talented combo was recognized by Downbeat magazine as being the best high school jazz combo in the country.

Many of Neil's former students went on to have successful careers in the entertainment business, such as actor Don Cheadle, jazz musician Nelson Rangell, saxophonist Javon Jackson, Latin percussionist Gary Sosias, Brad Leali (Sax, Clarinet and Flute) and pianist David Pearl, among many others.

Neil Bridge has been honored by the Denver School of the Arts with the dedication of the Neil Bridge Jazz Room in May, 2008. He received The Denver 5 Points Jazz Festival 2014 Lifetime Achievement Award for his significant contributions to the development and Appreciation of Jazz in the Historic Five Points Neighborhood and beyond. He was a pianist with the Denver Symphony and performed with Henry Mancini, Richard Hayman, Steve Allen, Rich Little and Nelson Riddle. Neil Bridge is a classic American Jazz Musician. He has accompanied Mel Torme, Anita O'Day, Nancy Wilson, Dakota Staton, Johnny Smith, The Mills Brothers, Clark Terry, Sonny Stitt, and many more. He has written over 200 musical arrangements for Neil Bridge 7+ With Karen Lee and ElPuente Grande Con Siete.

Education:

B/M in Music Education - New England Conservatory of Music

M/N in Music Education - University of Colorado

Karen Lee and Neil Bridge

In 1992, Karen married Neil Bridge. For years Karen provided monthly dances to the Denver community. She would teach a dance class to warm up the dancers, offer punch and hors d' oeuvres, and then live music for dancing featuring the “Neil Bridge Quintet.” Her dreams came true that she was finally able to fulfill her lifetime wishes of singing professionally, especially songs from “ The Great American Songbook”, with great arrangements by her husband. Karen explains, “ I have been enrolled in the “N.B.A.O.M.”, for 21 glorious years. It's the “Neil Bridge Academy Of Music!”

She also teaches Wedding couples, social ballroom dance, salsa, swing and Latin Dance.

Visit www.karenleedance.com to find out more about personalized dance lessons. She was the top female teacher at the United States Ballroom Dance Championships in the mid-80s. Then she and her professional partner went on to become the 1987 United States International Five Dance Latin Champions (Rising Star Category).

To share her love and knowledge of ballroom dancing, she created her nonprofit organization Karen Lee Dance Theatre, which has provided free ballroom dance classes to hundreds of inner-city youth since 1998.

For this work Karen received a Channel 7 Every Day Hero Award. She has also trained Olympic Ice Dancers in Colorado Springs.

Karen is so happy and honored to be the featured vocalist for Neil Bridge Music.
